

Event in the AXA Auditorium in Barcelona

On the 30th March in the AXA Auditorium in Barcelona Rotllan Torra presented their wines to a large group of people interested in tasting our wines.

There are various objectives for this type of tasting: firstly so that people get to know the Rotllan Torra brand and also so that people know about the new products that we are introducing to the market, we rely on our tastiest wines, the most structured, those with the longest after taste and the most potent while also being the most sophisticated and elegant wines that we produce.

In fact, the first photograph you can see clearly the intensity of the wine. In order to produce such quality wine we achieve this through exhaustive and meticulous work in the cellar and we are therefore very proud to have achieved wines of very high quality at very competitive prices.

In the event we tasted six red wines from Rotllan Torra and finished with the Rotllan Torra Muscatel.

The other objectives for these types of tastings are to encourage the intelligent consumption of wine, to those who are already wine fans we can show them how to taste quality wines using the wine industry's vocabulary and giving insightful and entertaining explanations. By doing this the participant can begin to form part of the history of each tasting and better understand each wine they are tasting.

Basically we can teach them how to explain in the same words of the wine experts the sensations that each taster experiences in all the different phases of the tasting process from visual, olfactory, tasting and through to the after taste phase.

Tasting in the Cercle Sabadelles

On the 30th April many of our wines were tasted in the prestigious Cercle Sabadelles in Bellaterra (Barcelona).

The tasting was very successful and lasted from 9pm until 1.30am in the morning.

Over 50 people attended the tasting and listened attentively to the explanations that were given during the event.

Eight wines were tasted and each wine was tasted with a different dish of suitably matched food.
