

Rotllan Torra presents a D.O.Q. Priorat wine retailing at between €6.25- €6.75

Much of the feedback suggests that people find it difficult to find reasonably priced Priorats and that the Priorat wines are very good but not attainable for everybody's pocket. For this reason Rotllan Torra has gone to great lengths to achieve D.O.Q. Priorat wines at very competitive prices. The fruit of this labour is the Rotllan Torra Semicrianza 2005 which is possible to buy on the market for around €6.26-€6.75 per bottle.

Rotllan Torra Semicrianza 2005 is a red wine, with a crianza of 8 months, a very intense colour, very aromatic where the fruity aromas dominate, lots of structure but at the same time very drinkable and very elegant in the mouth.

Tasting Notes:

Picota cherry in colour with an almost violet edge. Medium-high coating. Very glossy. Very fresh and aromatic. Long and fine tear. The excellent harmony between the fruit and wood stands out. Aromas of Crianza. Light toasting and mature fruit, also vanilla and pepper with touches of minerals and a hint of liquorice.

Well constituted, tasty and balanced. Enters softly in the mouth, silky and very fruity. Nice tannins which are elegant and will develop well. A balsamic finish with memories of its pleasant complexity and the wood is perfectly blended. Long aftertaste. A wine which will improve greatly in the bottle.

Rotllan Torra Creates its Own Law Firm
